Herbs are plant food substances. This is not a scientific definition, it is a practitioner's definition. It is used by the people who make recommendations about how to build better health naturally.

Herbs have been used since people began eating. They are not new and they were used long before there were people who called themselves doctors or scientists and they worked and they still do.

Since there are so many physical differences between us, it stands to reason one herb may do more for a certain person than another but do not despair. There is an herb for you too. Please accept this offer to build better health naturally.

The information was written because you are respected and appreciated, and loved. Someone does care about you and would like to see you well. Herbs are your birthright. Discover yours.
